

PARKER IS CHAIRMAN, AFTER A BITTER FIGHT BY THE PROGRESSIVES

EVEN BRYAN AND HIS SILVER TONGUE UNABLE TO STEM THE TIDE OF HIS DEMOCRATIC HENCHMEN AT THE CRUCIAL MOMENT.

HAS BEGUN WITH FIGHT

William Jennings Bryan Delivers a Philippic to the Delegates and is Cheered to an Echo by Enthusiastic Friends in the Audience.

BALTIMORE, MD., June 25.—William Jennings Bryan lost his first fight for progressive control of the democratic national convention today when he was defeated for temporary chairman of the convention by Alton B. Parker.

Mr. Bryan first nominated Senator Kern to oppose Parker. The latter declined the honor and named Mr. Bryan to make the fight. The official vote on the temporary chairmanship resulted in Parker's election. The vote was: Parker, 579; Bryan, 506; O'Gorman, 4. Wisconsin voted 23 for Bryan.

Judge Parker was escorted to the platform by Senator Stone and Senator Lea and Judge Westcott of New Jersey. His opening address as temporary chairman was begun, but not finished, and the convention adjourned until this evening at eight.

Convention Hall, Baltimore, June 25.—Wealth of decorations in white stairway. The crowd of delegates on the floor below could not see him. Mr. Bryan's hands cordially with Cardinal Gibbons.

"I am very glad indeed to meet you," he said, "and am sorry not to have known you before."

The Nebraska man then slipped back into a seat well secluded from the gaze of the crowd. At 12:08 Mr. Mack arrived and climbed the stairs leading to the platform. A few delegates who went to speak for Mr. Bryan found him somewhat nervous and irritable. He confirmed his intention of nominating Senator John W. Kern of Indiana as a candidate for temporary chairman in opposition to Judge Parker, the choice of the national committee. Both sides at this time were claiming victory.

At 12:20 Cardinal Gibbons took his place at the front of the platform and Norman E. Mack took his place at the chairman's desk. Charles E. Crisp, parliamentarian of the house of representatives, took a seat near Mr. Mack. He was to act as parliamentarian in the event of a tie.

Representative Henry of Texas, chairman of the house committee on rules, climbed the stairs to the stage and conversed for a moment with Bryan. Henry, who led the Bryan supporters in the house, was expected to lend his influence to the Nebraska man in the convention.

Up to this time Charles F. Murphy, Alton B. Parker, Senator O'Gorman and several other conservative leaders were still absent.

Chairman Mack dropped his gavel at 12:15 with the announcement, "The convention will be in order. The sergeant-at-arms will clear the aisle."

A moment after Chairman Mack began pounding for order, Judge Parker accompanied by Judge Morgan J. O'Brien of New York, appeared making his way up the wrong aisle in search of the New York delegation.

A cry of "Parker! Parker!" came from the galleries, but the former candidate was not generally recognized.

"Tom" Taggart arrived and took a place on the stage. Delegates took in getting by the doorkeepers caused much confusion on the floor and delayed the beginning of the proceedings.

Mr. Bryan received word that Indiana, Senator Kern's home state, had decided by a big majority to support Judge Parker, and this upheld the national committee. This news was taken by many delegates to mean defeat to the Nebraska man in his first great fight on the convention. Mr. Bryan appeared not to be disturbed.

As the sergeant-at-arms endeavored in vain to subdue the confusion, an excited, disheveled individual forced his way to the front of the hall and yelled, "Tell Chairman Mack there are 150 delegates in the outside who can't get in." Again the convention was delayed to allow the delegates time to get into the hall.

Delegate Platt of New Jersey forced his way through the crowd carrying a big bunch of bananas. He distributed the fruit among the New Jersey delegates. "Just exercising a little foresight," he commented, "We don't intend to starve if this session is prolonged."

The call for the convention was read by Thomas E. Smith, secretary of Tammany hall, New York. Following the call Chairman Mack introduced Cardinal Gibbons for the invocation. The great audience rose and stood during the prayer. The great vaulted convention hall was steeped in silence while the prelate invoked the Divine blessing. The attention of the delegates was such that the Cardinal's voice easily carried to the farthest corner. There was a remarkable demonstration as the Cardinal concluded. There was scattering applause and then a great wave of hand-clapping and cheering as the demonstration subsided.

Senator Kern, Bryan's candidate for temporary chairman, entered the hall. In a moment one of the galleries behind the platform started a cheer for Bryan. "Bryan! Bryan!" they shouted, and disorders broke loose again. Mack pounded his gavel in vain for several moments and finally secured enough quiet to proceed.

Chairman Mack directed the announcement of the temporary organization. Assistant Secretary Smith began to read:

Mr. Bryan had started from his hotel for the convention. A short time later Connecticut entered the hall with a big blue banner inscribed "Our Choice for President—Almon B. Baldwin." No applause greeted the Baldwin banner.

The California delegation brought in a large Champ Clark banner. Scattered cheers greeted its appearance. Mr. Bryan surprised the convention and gold and the national colors greeted the early arrival on the scene of the democratic national convention. The big hall, ordinarily a huge steel-beamed, brick-walled arena the chances of Gov. Marshall.

Connecticut in its support of Gov. Baldwin and North Dakota, favoring Gov. Hicke of that state, were no more favorably located than Indiana, both being in 4th or 5th positions from the front.

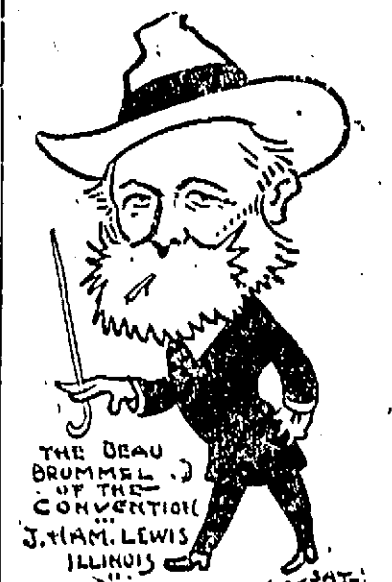

At 11:35 it was discovered that the slow arrival of delegates was due in part to the close scrutiny of tickets and credentials by doorkeepers, a long line of delegates and others being held up outside the building. Senator John William of Mississippi had a great deal of difficulty getting in.

The first cheer of the convention went to Gov. Wilson. As the delegates' seats began to fill up a standard-bearer carrying a big white silk banner bearing a gold five-pointed star and the inscription, "Grand Old Texas, forty votes to Woodrow Wilson, the People's Choice." As the banner appeared, a cheer swept the scattered crowds in the gallery. The delegates then on the floor did little cheering.

Cardinal Gibbons, who was to make the opening prayer, entered the hall at 11:45 accompanied by Chairman Robert Crain of the local committee on arrangements, and preceded by a squad of policemen. The Cardinal, in memory, was transferred by thousands of yards of bunting. The ugly steel girders under the roof were hidden by a false ceiling of light netting. From the galleries hung the banners of the various states and the territories and insular possessions.

A pouring rain and the security of the vehicles made progress from the headquarters to the army a somewhat serious problem. The committee in charge of the convention arrangements had given the most prominent places on the floor to the states having avowed presidential candidates in the field.

members of that delegation did not regard this as in any way diminish his red robes, made a picturesque figure among the soberly clad delegates who were rainy day clothes. He was cheered as he made his way to the stage.

At this time the hall was filling rapidly. There was a spreading murmur of excitement as word came that

FEDERALS ADVANCE FOR SERIOUS CLASH WITH REBEL FORCES

Important Engagement is Anticipated by Both Mexican Armies. For Many Days.

At General Huerta's Headquarters, June 25.—General Joaquín, the leading the vanguard of the government forces has crossed the river here and is within twelve miles of the rebel position at Bachamba.

General Huerta, the federal commander in chief with his main column and artillery will have crossed the big Ortiz bridge within twenty-four hours and an engagement is imminent providing the rebels do not retire.

Battle is Expected. At the Rebel Front, Bachamba, June 25.—The rebel vanguard in front of Bachamba has been watching the slow advance of the federals and the present situation points to an outburst of fighting at any hour and a battle if there is to be any at all on Thursday.

The probability of the two armies is expected to bring sharp skirmishing today. Approximately 5,500 rebels are in Bachamba and General Huerta says a determined resistance will be made. All women and children have been ordered from camp.

More Rebel Troops. El Paso, Texas, June 25.—General San Juan, the new commander of the federal forces in Sonora, arrived here last night for a conference with the Mexican consul Lorence.

The arrival in Juarez of more rebel troops and some light pieces of artillery is the basis for the impression that the insurgents will not give up the place without a fight.

CANADIAN PREMIER STARTS FOR ENGLAND

Accompanied by Minister of Marine, Justice, and Postmaster General—To Discuss Imperial Affairs.

Montreal, June 25.—Much public interest is manifested in the mission of Premier Borden and his colleagues who are sailing for England tomorrow on the steamship Royal George.

Among those accompanying the premier are Hon. John D. Hazen, minister of marine and naval service; Hon. Charles J. Doherty, minister of justice; Hon. L. J. Pellerin, postmaster general; Admiral Kluge and A. E. Blount, the premier's secretary. It is the general belief that the chief purpose of the Premier's visit to England at this time is to consult the imperial authorities concerning the naval policy to be determined by the Canadian Government. The belief that the naval policy is to be the principal subject of discussion is strengthened by the fact that Messrs. Hazen and Doherty are particularly well versed on that subject.

YOU read some very interesting news in this space tomorrow night. Watch for it.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DEATH OF YOUNG MAN

Earl Conkle, Who Recently Came Here From Delavan, Dies Suddenly -- Suicide Theory Held.

Mystery as yet unsolved, surrounds the death of Earl Conkle, a young man twenty-four years of age who died in this city yesterday afternoon after a short but very violent illness. Three physicians worked over him without avail, and although they used the stomach pump were unable to discover that he had taken any poison. Weight is given to the suicide theory from the admission of relatives that he has previously threatened and attempted to take his own life.

Conkle moved with his wife to this city last week, securing a room at a lodging house on North Academy street. He was planning to move his furniture here and begin light housekeeping, as he expected to work for J. H. Burns, the contractor, who is building the new Ketterer garage on East Milwaukee street. He was in Delavan Sunday and returned that evening. Between two and three o'clock Monday morning he was taken ill. His wife sat near and fanned him for some time, but finally fell asleep from exhaustion. When she awoke, Conkle was suffering from violent convulsions. His relatives were summoned, and Doctor Buckmaster, Waukegan and Elford worked over him for a long time. He died at five o'clock.

No empty plates or papers were found in the room to indicate that Conkle had taken poison, although the most plausible theory is that some poison caused his death. Relatives say that he suffered from lung and heart disorders and may have suffered a sudden and violent attack. He had never been strong and was not accustomed to work.

The unfortunate young man is the adopted son of D. J. Conkle of Delavan and came from a family in Richland county. He was given a high school education and had lived at home without undertaking any work other than assisting in the household. Last fall he engaged to take care of a horse for an elderly man and it was while in his employ that he met Mrs. Andrews, a woman between sixty and seventy years old, who had been divorced from her first husband. He became very much attached to her and they were married two months ago. Until their removal to this city they lived at the Conkle home in Delavan.

D. J. Conkle, the father, and Earl Conkle, the foster brother of Earl Conkle, made a quick trip to this city in an automobile early yesterday afternoon and reached his bedside before he died. The remains were taken to Delavan. There are seven children in the family, two brothers and two sisters in Delavan, and three other sisters in Richland, and adjoining counties. The relatives of Earl Conkle are Robert, Edna, and Jay Carless of Richland Mills, and Mrs. Mary Herlitz, a sister, who resides in the northern part of the state.

HORSES ARE FOUND; THIEVES ESCAPED?

Messages Received Last Night From Milwaukee That Two Horses Had Been Located.

A telephone message was received from Milwaukee last night at the Sheridan Brothers' livery barn, stating that the two horses, one from the Sheridan barn and the other from the Sheridon livery, which were stolen Sunday, had been located and that they would be shipped to this city today. Neither horse had arrived at four o'clock this afternoon.

The Sheridan horse was found in Milwaukee and the Nelson animal was taken at a place called Hale's Corners, about seven miles outside of Milwaukee. The search for the two horses which resulted so successfully was carried on by Turney Philo Kemp and Neil Sheridan. It was not stated last night whether either of the men who made off with the horses had been arrested, but the supposition today was that they had effected their escape. It is probable that Mr. Kemp is spending today in Milwaukee searching for the thieves with the aid of the Milwaukee police. It is now believed that the intention of the men was not to actually steal the horses but to secure transportation to Milwaukee by this means.

Municipal Street Cars Pay. In the last ten years the English city of Hull received from the profits of the municipal street car system $700,000, which lessened local taxation by that amount.

WHAT DOES ADVERTISING DO?

By W. C. Kenney. Makes better people of us all. It brightens stores--makes them attractive, makes them vie one with another in their displays, makes businesses which require help, thus solving the living problems of thousands.

Makes for competition in merchandising and a more uniform price on any commodity than would be possible under nonadvertising conditions.

Today you go to a store, ask for advertised goods and KNOW what those will cost you.

Your mother and her mother shopped differently. They priced goods, objected to the price, were granted a concession of a few cents or dollars, continued to object, and if they hung on long enough the proprietor himself was summoned and cut prices below where the clerk dared to. Then your mother paid 10c for coffee, her sister 11c for the same grade, and a shrewd neighbor dupliated their purchases for 9c.

Now you buy the same quality for 7c and KNOW that that is the same price other women pay.

In addition you SAVE TIME which your foremothers spent in haggling, and in these days time is indeed money.

MISS HEAGNEY AND WILLIAM NEHER WED

Ceremony Performed at Eight O'clock at St. Patrick's Church--Larson-Quinn Nuptials Today.

Miss Harriet Elizabeth Heagney and William N. Neher were united in marriage at eight o'clock this morning at St. Patrick's church. The wedding ceremony was celebrated by the Rev. Dean E. E. Kelly. Miss Galla Heagney, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Thomas Heagney, a brother of the bride, acted as best man. Immediately after the wedding, a luncheon was served to the immediate relatives at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Catharine Heagney, 382 Western avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Neher have departed on a wedding trip. They will be at home to their friends after August 1st, at 214 School street.

Larson-Quinn. At six o'clock this morning at St. Patrick's church, Miss Ella Larson and Frank Quinn were wedded by the Rev. Fr. William Mahoney. Miss Emma Larson, a sister of the bride, and James Quinn, a brother of the groom, attended them. They have departed on a wedding trip.

Peterowathewski-Bell. Nuptial high mass was celebrated at St. Mary's church yesterday morning at eight o'clock by Fr. William A. Goshel for the wedding of Miss Helen Peterowathewski of this city, and Joseph Bell of Chicago. Miss Mary Peterowathewski and Leo Pinski attended the bridal couple. A wedding breakfast was served afterward at the home of the bride's parents on Benton avenue.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Cora B. Leake. News of the death of Mrs. Cora B. Leake, wife of A. H. Leake, at her home in Anacortes, Wash., on June 19, has been received by friends in this city. Mrs. Leake had been a resident of the town of Harmony until 1900, when she went with her husband and family to Washington. Her death came after a year's illness with paralysis.

Mrs. Leake was born in Milton, Wis., Feb. 14, 1836. On Nov. 30, 1862, she was united in marriage to A. H. Leake, and for a number of years they lived in Harmony township. She was a daughter of James Toward, seven children: Mrs. Ethel Anderson, Mrs. Elsie Whittemore, Mrs. Mark on, Leon and William L. and Walter H. Leake, all of Anacortes; Mrs. Emma Spricker of Anacortes; Wash., and Leon Leake of Prosper, Ore. She also leaves a father, James Hurl; her mother, Mrs. Sarah Coddling; two sisters, Mrs. Mattie Sowles, and Mrs. Lou Schoof, and one brother, George Hurl, all of Anacortes; and another brother, Walter Hurl residing in Minneapolis. Funeral services were held at the Congregational church at Anacortes on Friday, June 21.

Mrs. John Zechel. Funeral services for Mrs. John Zechel were held Sunday afternoon from the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. Froendahl, 312 South Academy street. The Rev. E. E. Hoffmeister officiated. The remains were taken to Africa for interment. The pall bearers were R. E. Gier, W. C. Gier, Henry Kneek, E. D. Tracy, Herman Schumacher.

Frank Duffy. Regular mass for Frank Duffy was celebrated at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock this morning by the Rev. Father Mahoney. Interment was made in Mt. Olivet cemetery. The pallbearers were: Philip Doherty, James O'Rourke, George Cullen, W. F. Flaherty, and Thomas Macklin.

William F. Klenow. Last services for William F. Klenow were held from the home, 434 Madison avenue, at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, and at two o'clock in St. John's German Lutheran church. The Rev. S. W. Fuchs was the officiating pastor. Burial was in Oak Hill cemetery.

Harry Logerman. The funeral of Harry Logerman, who was drowned in the Rock river north of the city Friday night, was held at the home, 1093 Pleasant street at 2 o'clock, and at St. Peter's English Lutheran church at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The Rev. E. E. Hoffmeister officiated. A large number of friends of the unfortunate young man were present at the services and floral tributes were numerous.

Are You Planning A Lake Trip This Summer

A Lake Trip this summer is included in the plans of a great many people, or, perhaps, it will constitute the vacation for a large number and in this connection THE GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU is in position to render valuable service, inasmuch as it has received the latest folders from almost every steamship company in the country.

In this literature are featured places of interest on the route, or length of trip, rate for return trip, if it is desired to travel one way by rail and return by water, the expense of such a trip can also be ascertained. Whether the trip be to Mackinac and the Soo, from there to Niagara by way of Detroit, Cleveland, and Buffalo; or to the Soo returning by way of Duluth, you need not be in doubt as to the expense of the trip so far as transportation is concerned. There are also embodied in this literature the names of hotels with rates for board and room at the various cities and towns which the traveler will visit.

NOMINATION PAPERS BEING CIRCULATED

Candidates for Nomination at September Primary are Securing Signers.

Candidates for county offices at the September primary election now have their nomination papers in circulation and the requisite number of signers are being secured. According to the law each aspirant for office must have not less than three percent nor more than ten of the total number of voters in his party in the county at the last general election. In the case of the republican party this means that at least three hundred signatures must be secured. In Rock county these must be secured from seven precincts as the law reads that they shall be from at least one-sixth of the precincts of the county. All nomination papers must be filed with the county clerk thirty days before the primary election date. The papers shall be circulated not more than sixty days previous to the date of filing.

In regard to the expense accounts of the candidates, the law provides that an expense account shall be filed with the county clerk within four days of the second Saturday after the first expense is incurred and every second Saturday thereafter; also on the Saturday preceding the primary and after the primary.

ANNUAL PICNIC WILL BE HELD WEDNESDAY

Tomorrow, Wednesday, will mark the annual picnic of the Deloit and Janesville posts of the Grand Army of the Republic and their associated organization, the Woman's Relief Corps of the two cities, at Vost Park. These annual outings are always most enjoyable and there is always a special program for the entertainment of the visitors who join in these merry-making. Tomorrow George Spratt, of Shokoyan, the newly elected commander of the Wisconsin department, will be in attendance. The G. A. R. drum and fife corps will furnish the musical inspirations and the dinner, served from the baskets, promises to be most tempting. The general public is invited to attend.

ONE HUNDRED AND TEN CITIZENSHIP PETITIONS.

On hundred and ten applications for citizenship have been filed at the office of the clerk of the circuit court and the petitions will be examined on Sept. 23rd next. This is the largest number of petitions ever received to come before the examining officials here during any one term. The reason for this is the change in the naturalization law which required the taking out of second papers within a given period after the first papers have been secured. Saturday was the last day for filing applications to come up at the September term.

Attorney--Do you know what the word veracity means? Witness--Sure. It's being a good business man.

This cross-examination occurred during a trial in a Western State, and the lawyers are laughing about it yet. It would never have occurred had the witness been the possessor of The New Websterian 1912 Dictionary, illustrated.

No home is a home and no office a real office without a dictionary. When you are unable to tell what a man is talking about you might just as well give up trying to do business. A knowledge of languages is essential. When a man increases his vocabulary he has provided an asset greater than money. Money spent like water that once goes over the mill-wheel, does not come back, but a vocabulary may be used in getting the money back, and the money will buy more water.

Spending of lawyers--a well-known attorney was overheard telling a friend in a street car that he would not take $4 for the New Websterian, illustrated, which The Gazette presented to him.

The expected happened in spite of assurances of the dictionary man that a fresh lot of books would reach here soon, the reserve stock has not arrived, and the supply of leather-bound volumes is almost depleted.

More books are now being rushed here and it is confidently expected that the dictionary distribution will go merrily on.

English fight fans expect much from Bombardier Wells, the English heavyweight champion who has crossed the Atlantic to conquer America. They will probably be disappointed, for it looks as if Wells would lose his first battle—with Al Palmer in New York on June 28. Wells possesses speed and skill, but he lacks ruggedness. This being true, he can hardly be expected to stand off the onslaught of a battler like Palmer.

Four Cincinnati men, each with $1,885.50 in his pocket, are happy. It happened this way: Washing King, a four-year-old colt, owned by J. B. Hespeas, won a race at Cincinnati recently at odds of $347.75 to $1. These four men, who were evidently the only ones to have any confidence in the winner, each bet $2 on their favorite. There is an record but one case of a larger price being paid for a winning horse. Paytonia, at 1,000 to 1, won at Washington Park, Chicago, in 1894.

AMERICA EXPECTS THESE CHAMPION RUNNERS TO CARRY OFF THE HONORS AT THE OLYMPIC GAMES IN STOCKHOLM IN JULY

Four of the leading runners of the United States are Ben Hag, Kiviat, Al Shepard and Cline. They are now training at Caltic Park, L. I. The four men are the fastest three-mile relay team in the world and are looked upon to shatter all records at the coming Olympic games at Stockholm, Sweden.

Katherine was well adapted for the part. The second play was a one act farce and was pleasing in every respect. "The $1,000 Statue" was the name of the play. Frank Winkler as Jake the servant was very pleasing, and Adolf Winkler as Pete, Ray Brown as Hiram Hunker, were both very good. Adele Hurley as Rosa Hunker was a very interesting character and Evelyn DePoli as Mrs. Goe played her part in an engaging manner. Winkler Brothers are booked to return in the winter for a two week engagement.

PRELIMINARY PLANS ARE MADE THIS MORNING

Baltimore, June 25.—Senator W. J. Kern of Indiana has practically been agreed upon as the candidate for the progressives for temporary chairman of the national convention. He will be placed in nomination by William J. Bryan. In a conference held this morning in which Senator Lake Lea of Tennessee, Senator Kern of Indiana, Senator Gore of Oklahoma, Senator Newlands of Nevada, national committeeman Garber of Ohio and Chas. W. Bryan participated. At his conclusion the conference told Mr. Bryan they thought Senator Kern should be named as temporary chairman and that the nomination should be made by Mr. Bryan. Shortly after leaving Mr. Bryan's room Mr. Garber gave out the information that Senator Kern would likely be the man named. Mr. Bryan said today that he thought very keenly about the situation and was prepared to make the speech of his life in defense of his attitude against "The Big Interests" he claimed were opposing him. Some of Mr. Bryan's friends declared that tears came to the Nebraska's eyes as he talked of the situation. That he was deeply in earnest was plainly apparent.

Judge Parker said he had no idea who would lead the fight for him. He said the matter was to be handled by the national committee. Friends of Judge Parker are sanguine. They are confident of securing enough votes to win unless the delegates were stampeded by Mr. Bryan's eloquence and to prevent this they were looking over the field for some speaker to match the oratory of the Nebraskaan.

NO COMPROMISE.

The hope was entertained by many thoughtful republicans that at some time during the session of the national convention, a compromise might be reached that would result in harmonizing the discordant elements in the party. The demonstration for Governor Lindley of Missouri, was the nearest approach to any such suggestion, and this was premature.

At no time until the final vote was taken did the men in control of the convention feel warranted in advising the president to withdraw, and the fight against him was so extremely bitter that it is very doubtful if he could have been influenced to retire.

It is to be regretted that Colonel Roosevelt did not recognize defeat before final action was taken, and loyally stay by the party. Falling to do this, it should have occurred to him, as it did to many of his staunch supporters, that party reform can best be accomplished by working within the party.

The new party, whatever may be its platform, will fail to satisfy the progressives of several of the western states, because of their antagonism to the man who created it, and because they are republicans and not bolters.

The colonel hopes to profit by a split at Baltimore, but if this occurs he can hardly hope to usurp Mr. Bryan as a leader of insurgent democracy. Mr. Roosevelt has enjoyed all the honor that it was possible for the American people to confer, and he should be satisfied. Mr. Bryan is still waiting for his laurels, and whether he secures the nomination or not, there will be no compromise.

With Taft and Sherman in the field, the democrats will recognize the necessity of placing in nomination a progressive ticket, and when this is done Colonel Roosevelt will be invited to abandon his new party ambition and join the democratic camp.

This he is not likely to do, as there is a lurking suspicion that his first ambition is leadership, with a large "I."

TWAIN ON ROOSEVELT.

New York, June 8.—The Times prints the following from a correspondent:

"I quote below from a letter written by Mark Twain two days after Colonel Roosevelt left the presidential office. The original is held by Walter Hiles, Hartford, Conn. The article was first printed in the catalogue of Mark Twain's library. It seems very appropriate to the present situation:

"March 4, 1908.—Astronomers assure us that the attraction of gravitation on the surface of the sun is twenty-eight times as powerful as is the force at the earth's surface, and that the object which weighs 217 pounds elsewhere would weigh 6,000 pounds there."

"For seven years this country has lain smothering under a burden like that of the incubus representing in the person of President Roosevelt, the difference between 317 pounds and 6,000."

Thanks be we got rid of this disastrous burden day before yesterday, at last. Forever? Probably not. Probably for only a brief breathing spell, wherein, under Mr. Taft, we may hope to get back some of our health—four years. We may expect to have Mr. Roosevelt sitting on us again, with his twenty-eight times the weight of any other presidential burden that a hostile providence could impose upon us for our sins.

"Our people have adored this showy charlatan as perhaps no impostor of his breed has been adored since the Golden Calf, so it is to be expected that the nation will want him back again after he is done hunting other wild animals heroically in Africa, with the safeguard and advertising equipment of a park of artillery and a brass band."

Twain was a democrat and his sarcastic letter is characteristic of the great humorist. His estimate of Roosevelt, at the time he wrote, is badly tinged with prejudice, for he retired from office the most popular, and in many ways the greatest president since Lincoln.

No accomplished more, in the way of business reform, through quickening the moral conscience, than any man who ever presided over the destinies of the nation, and he enjoyed the love and confidence of the people in rare degree.

His mistakes were mistakes of judgment, and not of the heart. Had his mind been more evenly balanced his last error would not have been made, and his name would have passed to history unblemished.

"CONSCIENCE MONEY." Ottawa—Ottawa government announced that since the Titanic disaster a continuous stream of "conscience money" has poured into the customs department. Literally hundreds of such contributions, amounting to thousands of dollars, have been received from anonymous sources. Many of these payments have been accompanied by statements that the Titanic disaster had put a keen edge on conscience.

From the present outlook there will be plenty of parties to choose from. This is perhaps well, for the doctrine is popular just now that every man should be an independent voter. When the primary law is generally adopted, there will be no occasion for party organization. A few leaders like Roosevelt, Bryan and La Follette can handle the business. Then will be the millennium in politics.

The Baltimore convention opens with a light with the party on the defensive. Colonel Bryan has adopted the Roosevelt methods and is shouting, "Stop thief!" in lusty tones. Judge Parker represents conservative democracy, and Bryan is the insurgent leader. Just how many new parties may appear on the political horizon is difficult to forecast.

The council should be commended for the good work being done on the streets. In all parts of the city. The old dressing is the best dust preventive yet discovered and it preserves the streets, as well. It will be noticed that ward boundary lines are ignored, and the streets of the city treated as a unit. This is as it should be. Let the good work go on.

HAMILTON FISH, JR., WEDS MRS. DELAPLAINE AMESICK.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, June 25.—The marriage of Mrs. Delaplaine Amesick and Hamilton Fish, which took place today at the bride's home in Fifth avenue, brought together representatives of two of New York's oldest and most prominent families. Mr. Fish is the youngest son of the Hamilton Fish who was Secretary of State in 1869 and later Governor of New York. The bride was the widow of the late Gustave Amesick. One of her sons is the wife of J. Bruce Amesick, managing director of the White Star Line. Today's marriage is the second for Mr. Fish and the third matrimonial venture for his bride.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORS OF IOWA IN CONVENTION.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Grinnell, Ia., June 25.—With a record breaking attendance of delegates and visitors, the annual convention of Iowa Christian Endeavor societies assembled here today and will continue in session until Friday. The Rev. N. E. Van Horn of Des Moines is here to preside over the several sessions. The list of speakers includes many prominent ministers and laymen. Among them are United States Senator Kenyon, Bishop Samuel Fallows of Chicago, and Dr. D. E. Jenkins, president of Omaha University.

TO RESIGN AS DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS BOARD.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., June 25.—Dr. B. M. Russell will resign as director of the Wisconsin state board of public affairs, according to a statement made privately by him. He proposes to join the staff of the Duluth, Minn., Commercial association. He was formerly on the faculty of the University of Wisconsin in law in commerce. He also handled the Milwaukee bureau of economy and efficiency.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By Roy K. Moulton

The Picnic Season.

Oh joy, oh rapture, children dear, The picnic season now is here. So telephone and get the lunch. And pack the old dyspepsia lunch. Dill pickles, doughnuts, hard-boiled eggs.

Cold pork and beans and chicken legs, Potato salad, cottage cheese? Let all the folks bring what they can.

Of course they surely will all bring Again the same old sort of thing. Get on an interurban car And ride, it matters not how far.

And see if you can find a place Where trespassers they do not chase. Desert your hot and sultry flats. Get out among the flies and gnats.

Mosquitoes, chiggers and the like. The bugs that never go on strike. Get all the rest that you can take. Try pulling kids out of the lake.

A mile away or some such thing. And long before the hour of ten Begin to long for home again. Participate in family jars And run four miles to catch the cars.

At midnight's hour or thereabout, Get home hot, cross and tired out.

She Fixed Him All Right.

The lecturer waxed eloquent upon nature. "How beautiful is nature," he exclaimed, "how powerful, how grand, how poetic. How much she has done for all of us. What has she done for you, brother, and you and you?" continued the speaker, pointing out various members of the audience.

Finally he pointed to a tall gentleman in the back row and asked, "And what has Nature done for you, brother?"

"The man rose painfully and walked to the platform, turning and facing the audience. He was knock-kneed, had fiery red hair, and was cross-eyed and had a bare hip.

"Well," he said, "I guess you can all then what Nature hath done for me. There fixed me all right."

Madison, Wis., June 25.—John G. Herndon, Jr., of Washington, D. C., and George H. Nelson of St. Louis, Mo., have been appointed as assistants in the office of the Wisconsin state tax commission.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; none cures out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by local applications, if you will send the name and address to J. C. KIRK, & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

THE DEERING LINE

has reached the highest standard of excellence in the harvest field. The harvesting and farm machines in this famous line are prominent factors on hundreds and thousands of farms.

The Deering line can be relied upon. The designers of the machines are keen, practical men with a thorough insight into the needs and viewpoint of the farmer, and this intimate knowledge has been utilized and incorporated into machines that are strong, practical, economical, and highly effective under whatever conditions they are used.

The Deering New Ideal Giant Mower and The Deering New Ideal Vertical Lift Mower

are both constructed with a view to covering every demand which can be made upon a mower. They do the work surely and effectively.

These mowers are fitted with roller and ball bearings and no expense has been spared to make them leaders in their line.

These machines have an established reputation and all that is necessary is for you to see them and their many points of excellence will win you to purchase.

The Deering Hay Tedder

The Deering Ideal Self Dump Hay Rake

The Deering Swinging Hay Stacker

are all machines of quality and fill a want on every farm for haying tools.

The New Rock Island Hay Loader is a combined hay rake and loader and enjoys the distinction of being the only loader that can be satisfactorily operated by one man.

The Rock Island puts the hay on the wagon and it stays "put." See this tool and you will equip your farm with one of them.

The German creditors were paid by New Liberia five per cent accepting them at substantially the same rate at which they were issued to the banks.

CAPTURED ALLEGED BURGLAR AT HIS SWEETHEART'S HOME

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Green Bay, June 25.—A longing to see his sweetheart in Milwaukee caused the arrest of James Burns, in Milwaukee, on a charge of burglarizing a store in Green Bay. Burns broke into a store and fitted himself out with a new suit of clothes and a new outfit. He left a torn postal card with the name of a young Milwaukee girl on it, and the chief of police here notified Milwaukee authorities, who waited until Burns called upon the girl when he was arrested.

SAW FRIEND DROWN; KEPT FACT SECRET

JESSE REED CONFESSES AFTER DENIALS TO WATCHING JOSEPH ORAM DIE.

BODY IS RECOVERED

Taken From River This Morning—Reed Assists in Location—Police Make Investigation.

That he saw his companion Joseph Oram disappear beneath the surface of the river yesterday afternoon and made no attempt to rescue him or notify anyone of his drowning was the strange confession made to the police this morning by Jesse Reed, who was placed under arrest late last night at the Anuth farm about five miles northwest of Milton. This confession was made by Reed after he had stoutly denied the fact, and made several other statements which were found untrue. No evidence has been found to indicate foul play, but the circumstances are such that a careful investigation will be made.

The body of Oram was found at 10:30 o'clock this morning but a few yards from the west bank of the river, at a point but a short distance north of the Jones boat wharf, and not more than a dozen feet from the point indicated by Reed, who assisted in the search. Two night policemen, dragged the river from 1 until 7:30 o'clock this morning without success, having but an indistinct idea of where the drowning took place. The second attempt was made by Robert Dear, Byron Jones, and others, under the direction of Chief of Police Appleby. The Jones launch, clammings hooks, and grab hooks with long handles were used. Two of the party also swam and dived and after half an hour's work the body was pulled up with the grab hooks and towed to the Jones pier. From this place it was removed to the Kimball morgue.

Two men, who proved to be Oram and Reed, stopped at the Jones boat house a little after twelve o'clock yesterday noon. They offered the proprietor a drink of whiskey, which he refused, and then passed on. Later in the afternoon Mr. Jones saw one of the men return, but without his companion. His suspicions were aroused by this circumstance, but were further heightened when a pile of clothes were found on the bank. He notified the police at about five o'clock and Officer Chapman went out to get the clothes and make inquiries.

No one knew who the man was, but a letter was found in the coat addressed to Joseph Oram, care of J. A. Austin, Milton. This indicated that Oram was working for Mr. Austin and on telephoning him Chief of Police Appleby discovered that not only Oram, but another man, Jesse Reed, was in his employ. They had gone to Janesville Saturday night. Reed had telephoned them that he was on his way back and asked them to meet him.

An automobile was secured by Chief Appleby and in company with Officer Fanning went out to the Austin farm. When they arrived, Reed was asleep on the floor in an upper room. He was awakened and questioned as to what had become of Oram. At first he denied having seen the missing man since he left him at a Main street auto, but later admitted that he accompanied him up the river.

Oram had gone in bathing against his wishes and he had gone away and left him. He knew nothing about the drowning until he reached the Austin farm. Seeing a dusty valise standing near, Chief Appleby asked him why he took his companion's suitcase. He replied that he took it by Oram's request. He did not know what had become of his shoes. The police took him into custody and brought him to the police station to await further investigation.

This morning Mr. Austin telephoned the station that Oram's shoes had been found in a bundle, which Reed carried home. Confronted with the evidence of his untruths, Reed admitted that he had seen his companion turn a somersault in the water, go under and fail to reappear. He asked if the police would make trouble for him if he helped to find the body and no marks of violence were discovered on it.

According to his story Reed first met Oram in Milwaukee, where they were both in search of work. Oram said he had worked near Janesville before and so they came here, finding work on the Austin farm. They each drew about $15 Saturday night, and came to Janesville to spend it, intending to return Sunday night. Both had been drinking heavily, and Oram had begun drinking again Monday morning. Oram carried in his pocket a card in "Truck Drivers' Local Union No. 705 of Chicago, in which was signed the name of J. W. O'Connor.

District Attorney Dunwiddie, Judge Elford and Chief of Police Appleby, after a careful investigation of the conditions surrounding the case, decided there was no need for an inquest. There was no evidence of foul play and boys had seen Oram swimming around after he had gone into the water.

Reed had sat on the bank and either saw his companion go down and not come up, or had left before his death occurred. Probably the former theory prevailed, according to his own testimony. He could not swim and while he might have summoned aid he left his friend to drown and went back to the Austin farm. In view of all the circumstances an inquest was not deemed necessary.

Jesse Reed was released from custody early this afternoon. Reed was not able to explain why he informed no one of the accident. He said he was scared when he saw Oram go under and his first impulse was to leave the spot. After he left he felt sorry he did not tell anyone, but felt disinclined to come back and expose his peculiar actions.

It is not yet known what disposal will be made of Oram's remains. Reed knew nothing about his relatives or connections. District Attorney Elford will write to an address found on a letter in his pocket. The letter was signed "Anna" 1312 Park avenue, Chicago.

RAISES MUSHROOMS IN BED IN CELLAR

H. F. Nott Successful in Culture of This Delicious Edible on First Experiment.

H. F. Nott, of 231 Terrace street, this morning picked the first two pounds of big, white, delicious mushrooms grown in a bed he had planted in his cellar May 1. One pound was brought to the Gazette office and the other presented to E. F. Carpenter. Mr. Nott became interested in mushroom culture some time ago, and after a careful study of the conditions which are best for the culture of the edible fungus, made a bed, five by twenty feet, in his basement. It was May 1, and on May 14 he sprayed it, securing the spawn from a Chicago concern that makes a specialty of mushrooms. The temperature of the cellar is kept at fifty-five to fifty-eight degrees, and the bed is watered thoroughly each morning. Sunday the first mushrooms appeared, and from now on there will be in the neighborhood of two pounds ready for table use each morning. Mr. Nott is enthusiastic over his venture and plans to plant other beds so as to have them growing all the year round. One bed usually yields itself out at the end of three months and as it takes nearly that time for it to mature, it is slow work until the beds begin to yield. The mushrooms are the large white ones that are so highly prized by lovers of the fungus and are a delicate pink underneath the top cap.

SEEK CLAIMANTS OF VETERANS' BOUNTIES

War Department Auditor Writes Postmaster Valentine Concerning Addresses of Relatives of Veterans.

Two requests for information regarding claimant for pay and bounty alleged to be due relatives of soldiers who served in the Civil war, have been received by Postmaster C. L. Valentine from the auditor for the war department of the treasury department at Washington. Thus far efforts to find relatives of the persons named in the papers from the Washington officials have been unavailing, and the postmaster is anxious of securing the desired information. One request for information is regarding the address of Mrs. Hannah Powell, widow, or the next of kin of Leonard Powell, who served in Company I, Second Wisconsin Infantry and Company M, Second Wisconsin Cavalry. The other request is for the address of Nathan Haviland, or his nearest relative. Mr. Haviland served as a private in Company E, Thirty-third Wisconsin Infantry.

AEROPLANE IS BOUGHT BY JANESVILLE MAN

H. H. McDaniels Is Owner Of Mills-Curtis Biplane—To Be Delivered At Madison This Week.

To H. H. McDaniels belongs the distinction of being the first resident of Janesville to own an aeroplane. He placed an order with H. Duffels last Friday for a Mills-Curtis type biplane which will be delivered at Madison some time this week, shipment being made from Tulsa, Oklahoma. The machine is almost identical with the one which was used in the exhibitions during the Eagle's convention last week. It has a six cylinder Gray engine of 40 horsepower, and it is a tested machine, having been used in exhibitions in the west and southwest. Mr. McDaniels will not fly the biplane himself but will engage the services of an aviator. Engagements have already been made for flights at Portage, July 25 and 27, and at Evansville at an early date in August.

ANNUAL REUNION OF SMITH FAMILY HELD

Evansville, June 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Smith and son Marlowe, and Mrs. Smith and son Harley went to Janesville, Saturday, to attend the second annual reunion of the Smith family.

Relatives to the number of forty-six gathered at the home of the oldest brother, Harrison Smith, 27 Logan avenue, Janesville. A sumptuous banquet was served on the lawn, and the day was most happily spent in games, music, social converse and reminiscence of other days.

A special feature of the occasion added greatly to the pleasure of all, was the presence of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith of Kansas, the former a cousin who during his boyhood years made his home with the Smith family. The day will long be remembered as one of the happiest in the family history.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurd and daughter, of St. Paul, motored down from that city last week on business and called at the home of V. C. Dillingham of this place. Mr. Hurd was looking for dairy cows, and accompanied by Mr. Dillingham went to the vicinity of Monticello, where he bought two carloads of Holstein cows and shipped them to St. Paul. Mr. Dillingham accompanied the family back to their home.

Myrtle Apfel gave a party to a dozen of her girl friends, at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. T. Loo. Light refreshments were served and a jolly afternoon spent by both guests and hosts.

The J. C. Robinson and George Emory families went on a fishing excursion, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Grace of Sparta, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. M.

Jones Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Pliny Tolles entertained Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Robinson and daughter, Bernice Sunday.

Miss Lettie Jones of Chicago, is visiting her brother, E. M. Jones and family.

Many friends at Footville and Janesville, will be interested to know that Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Hanson and family of Madison, will start in the near future for Montana, South Dakota, to visit Mr. Elmer Morrison and family and other relatives.

Mrs. Etta Moore returned Friday night from a two months' visit at Buffalo, New York. She also visited at Orchard Park and Niagara Falls. On the way home Mrs. Moore stopped at Beloit and Brookfield to visit relatives. J. W. Calkins is painting his residence.

There will be services at St. John's Episcopal church Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. Archdeacon Benson will give a short address. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Eugene Sweeney of Oregon, was in town Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Barnard go up to their cottage at Lake Koshong, today. They will come home to attend the christening.

Henry Gardner was down from Madison, Saturday.

J. H. Heggs was a Madison visitor Sunday.

Almon Allen and Laura Hill came home from Madison Sunday night.

Miss Emma Kuolitz of Madison, was a visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kuolitz Sunday.

Miss Zora Howard of Madison, was a guest of her parents, over Sunday.

Paul Gray spent Sunday at Lake Geneva.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Snyder are the proud parents of a daughter, born on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Pardon motored down from Madison Sunday, and called on friends in town.

Geo. Wolfe, Sr., returned from his western trip Saturday.

Mrs. Marie Leedle went to Edgerton yesterday to see her son Wm. Leedle, who has been ill for the past two or three weeks.

SPECIAL ADDRESS TO MASONIC ORDER

Rev. Macinnis Delivered Forceful Sermon at Edgerton M. E. Church Sunday Evening.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Edgerton, June 25.—At the M. E. Church Sunday night Pastor Macinnis addressed a large assembly of members of the Masonic order and members and friends of the church.

The address being directed almost fully to the benefit of the Masonic order, the subject dwelt upon was "The Building of Character."

Rev. Macinnis has been an extensive traveler the greater part of his life, his last trip one year ago being to the Holy Land. The speaker named and outlined as plainly and distinctly as if illustrated by pictures, the large and mammoth structure erected centuries ago which now is as good and solid as when first built. From this standpoint he impressed upon his hearers the same solid foundation of building up the foundation of character.

He spoke in glowing terms, at times oratory being quite fluent. The address throughout was a masterly one and was listened to with eager interest from start to close.

Brought Here For Burial.

The funeral of Mrs. Ann Harrison who died at the county farm last Saturday night was held here yesterday afternoon, conducted by Rev. G. K. Macinnis. Interment was made in Pleasant cemetery. Mrs. Harrison with her two sons, Robert and Arthur Cook came to this country from England in 1850 and has since resided in this vicinity. Her second husband, Joseph Harrison, passed away a few years ago. Mrs. Harrison was probably the oldest resident in this vicinity, being ninety-seven years of age the third of March last.

What's The Matter With Your Baby?

The young mother—and many an old one, too—is often puzzled to know the cause of her child's ill nature. The loudness of its crying does not necessarily indicate the seriousness of its trouble. It may have nothing more the matter with it than a headache or a feeling of general dullness. It cannot, of course, describe its feelings, but as a preliminary measure you are safe in trying a mild laxative.

Five times out of ten, you will find it is all the child needs, for its restlessness and peevishness are perhaps due to obstruction of the bowels, and once that has been remedied the headache, the sluggishness and the many other evidences of constipation and indigestion will quickly disappear.

Don't give the little one salts, cathartic pills or nasty waters, for these will act as purgatives, and they are too strong for a child. In the families of Mrs. L. A. Thelin, Manuel, N. D., and Mrs. Henry Jensen, Granton, Wis., the only laxative given is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It has been found to answer most perfectly all the purposes of a laxative and its very mildness and freedom from griping recommend it especially for the use of children, women, and old folks generally—people who need a gentle bowel stimulant. Thousands of American families have been enthusiastic about it for more than a quarter of a century.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

Your name and address on a postal card will do.

BADGER DEMOCRATS TALK OF CAMPAIGN

PLAN FOR BUT TWO CANDI-
DATED FOR THE GUBERN-TORIAL NOMINATION.

ARE OFF TO BALTIMORE

Wisconsin Delegation Left Milwaukee Sunday To Help Nominate Democratic Standard Bearer.

Now that the republicans have settled their battle royal for the presidential nomination, Wisconsin democrats are planning to heart and soul, to make a good selection from among the numerous candidates. It has been decided that but two names will be presented at the September primaries.

These two candidates will be the men receiving the highest number of votes on the nominating ballot at the state convention of that party in Milwaukee, July 11, will be the candidates for the democratic nomination for gov. at the primary election, following a resolution introduced by John A. Aylward, adopted by the state central committee Saturday at ternoon at the Franklin, Milwaukee.

It is recommended to the state conventions that nominations be received for each on the state ticket and that the convention proceed to ballot such nominations as heretofore and that the state chairman be instructed to circulate the nomination papers of the two candidates for each office who shall receive the largest number of votes on the nominating ballot.

The action meant that the democratic party will present at the primary election but two candidates for each office. This, it is expected, will concentrate the democratic votes at the primary.

The first step taken by the state central committee was to select the time and place for the state convention. Milwaukee was awarded the meeting, and it was decided to call the convention to order at 11 o'clock on July 11.

According to the action taken by the committee more delegates will be admitted to the state convention this year, each county being awarded one delegate for every 200 democratic votes cast at the last presidential election. This will bring the total number of delegates up to 833.

To choose delegates for this state convention democratic county chairmen E. H. Connell has issued a call for a county convention to be held here on July 6th. That this promise to be the opening gun of a hot county campaign by the enthusiasm shown by the democratic leaders throughout the state.

Meanwhile Democratic enthusiasm was at high pitch when the special train pulled out of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway station at Milwaukee Sunday afternoon, bearing the Wisconsin delegation to the national democratic convention at Baltimore.

The break in the ranks of the republican party has raised the hopes of the democratic party and the Badger delegation were in high spirits when they left for the convention city, many of them declaring that a democrat will occupy the White house during the next four years.

A number of Wisconsin democrats bade the delegates farewell, and all expressed confidence in the party which they are supporting.

Just what policy the Wisconsin delegates will follow at the convention will be determined on the way to the convention city. Wisconsin democrats say that the party entertains higher hopes of victory than ever before and will endeavor to concentrate their forces so as to ably combat the republican candidate at the fall election.

Accommodations were provided for women on the special train bearing the Wisconsin delegation. Mrs.
Frank B. Schulz, wife of the chairman of the state central committee;
Mrs. John A. Aylward, Madison; and Mrs. William Moradort were among the women to make the trip to the eastern city. Several others joined the party at Chicago.

Among the prominent Wisconsin democrats who were on the train which left for Baltimore Sunday afternoon were Lawrence McGreer, Senator Paul H. Hunsicker, John A.
Aylward, A. J. Schmitt, John Hadden,
P. H. Mawell, P. H. Martin, O. D.
Henderson, A. P. Kealy, J. C.
O'Neill, E. C. Kretlow, John C. Cummings, Evan A. Evans, W. R. Howard, Max Hotelot, Dr. Louis Buch-huber, George H. Hutton, John T. J.
Flaming, Albert Hutton, J. J. Dom-mery, W. J. Hatcher, Dr. Louis Buch-huber, Nicholas Leider, John Froman and Arthur H. Murbereor.

William Jennings Bryan will be a candidate for the democratic nomination for president in the belief expressed by several of the delegates to the convention. Notwithstanding the fact that nineteen of the delegates from this state were chosen as Wilson supporters, many democrats do not believe the New Jersey governor will secure the nomination.
Prominent members of that party declare the Wisconsin sentiment leans toward Champ Clark and Bryan.

Large Classes Of Boys And Girls Of Catholic Churches Confirmed By Assisting Bishop Koudelko
Of Milwaukee.

Confirmation services for two classes of young people were held today in the Catholic churches. Assisting Bishop Koudelko of Milwaukee administered the confirmation.
At St. Mary's church the services were held at half past nine o'clock this morning. A class of one hundred and four boys and girls received the confirmation. This afternoon at two o'clock at St. Patrick's church the assistant bishop administered the confirmation to a class of one hundred and seventy.

Released From Jail: Joseph Knuth, known as "Bull Dog Joe," who was arrested by federal officers near Beloit in March, charged with fraudulent use of the mails and later sentenced to four months in the Dane County jail by Judge Sanborn of the United States federal court, was released on Saturday last and spent the day visiting friends in this city. Knuth reports that he has carried his case of the order issued stopping his mail, through to Washington and obtained a release order from the postmaster general.

Tripped by Wire: Two girls made complaint at the police station late last evening that they had been tripped by a wire stretched across pleasant street at the Five Points.
One suffered a sprained wrist and a cut in the mouth from her fall. The police are searching for the boys who strung the wire.

Queer Way of Fishing.
A curious mode of fishing is in vogue at Cuchin, South India. The large nets are let down into the water on bamboo cranes and then suddenly hoisted up by means of an arrangement of weights and pulleys.
The catch principally consists of large prawns. The fishermen are of a low caste, known as Malars. They eat pork, and each man has a small plot of rice by the riverside which provides him with sustenance when the fishing is slack.—Wide World Maga-

MARY ELLEN'S WAY

She Convinces Mr. Mary Ellen of the Joys of Motoring

MARY ELLEN had been meditating upon the delights of motoring. To her they were self-evident. But to Mr. Mary Ellen they were non-existent. However, she had tackled harder problems than this in her time, so she said glibly:

"Mr. and Mrs. Blank took me out in their new car today. I never noticed before just how masterful and capable a man looks when running a car. As I sat behind Mr. Blank and studied his broad shoulders, and watched the way he handled that big machine—well, it's a good thing I was married and he was married. I don't wonder girls fall in love with chauffeurs." She paused and her eyes grew dreamy.

Mr. Mary Ellen moved uneasily in his chair. "Any man can run a car," he said.

"Well, maybe. But it seems to me it takes a lot of brains to manage such a complicated thing."

"What car have the Blanks?"

"Buick. And it's a dandy. It certainly covers ground."

Involuntarily, Mr. Mary Ellen turned to the automobile ads in the magazine he was reading, and Mary Ellen said no more.

A few days later Mr. Mary Ellen proposed they take a little trip on Sunday. "Every place is so beautiful on Sunday," objected Mr. Mary Ellen.

"I know, dear, but you really ought to get outdoors. You are in that office from Monday morning until Saturday night. You look pale and faded now, and the worst hot weather is coming on."

Mr. Mary Ellen looked at himself in the glass and admitted he did look a bit chafed. "It's a beastly way to live," he said.

"If you were outdoors more or had some sort of recreation it would be all right. We'll go Sunday anyway."

Mary Ellen selected the most popular nearby resort she could find. En route they stood part way. They were pushed and jostled and trod upon and punched. They ate a cold, tasteless lunch, and Mr. Mary Ellen was made sick by ice cream. They returned home, weary and worse, though Mary Ellen was cheerful.

"It was tiresome," she admitted. "But you really ought to get out some. I had a notion accepting an invitation from the Blanks, but I didn't know if you'd care to motor. They take a trip every Sunday. They pack a lunch—just the things they like—and have the dullest time. Last week they found a quiet little country road alongside a stream, and they stopped for hours and Mr. Blank fished."

Mr. Mary Ellen looked envious. Fishing was a weakness with him.

During the next few weeks Mary Ellen told of various delightful trips the Blanks had taken. At times she discoursed feelingly upon Mr. Mary Ellen's fagged looks and the need of fresh air and recreation, and wished there was something she could do to make him feel better. One evening the Blanks took them out for a spin, and Mary Ellen noted that Mr. Mary Ellen carefully watched Mr. Blank's manipulation of the car.

The next night Mr. Mary Ellen came home with some automobile catalogues. "Automobiles isn't half bad, is it?" he said.

"No, it seems pretty good sport," replied Mary Ellen carefully. "And after all, it doesn't seem difficult to run a car."

"Easy as rolling off a log," responded Mr. Mary Ellen.

A week or so later a brand new car whirled up in front of Mary Ellen's home, and Mr. Mary Ellen with booming face sprang out.

"Ours!" exclaimed Mary Ellen. "Oh, you dearest man, you always do think of the most delightful things."

Mr. Elizabeth Jane strolled out from next door. "Got a car, eh?"

"You bet! It's the only way to enjoy life."

"My wife wants me to get one," said Mr. Elizabeth Jane gloomily. "And I suppose I'll have to, though I detest them. But when a woman sits her mind on a thing you might as well throw up your hands."

"I am glad you are not like Mr. Elizabeth Jane," said Mary Ellen as they whirled away. "I never have to coax you to get things. Yet always think yourself of delightful things to get."

And then, much to the astonishment of a man with a pushcart, she gave him, as they flashed by, a broad, jolly smile.

water. Try it.

Ginger Ale Julep is another variation. Mix the juice and grated rind of six lemons with a cup of sugar; dissolve and put into a two-quart pitcher with half a dozen sprigs of mint slightly bruised. Add two cups of crushed ice and pour on two bottles of ginger ale.

The smoothest, finest flavored lemonade is made with syrup. Boil a pint of water and half a pint of sugar together ten minutes; add the juice of six lemons; cover and set aside to cool. Serve by cold with strawberries or raspberries on top.

Crushed sweetened pineapple is a splendid addition to lemonade.

A favorite fountain drink this season is orange lemonade. Juice and grated rind of three lemons, sweetened to suit the taste; one cup of boiling water; cover and when cool add two fresh eggs beaten light. Place in a mixer or a Mason jar and shake until foamy. Fill the jar with crushed ice and shake again and serve.

Strawberry Punch—Cook a cup and a half of sugar with a quart of water; add a pint of crushed strawberries and half the quantity of lemon juice, sweeten more if necessary and serve with shaved ice.

Lime Julep is often substituted for lemon juice, as it comes bottled and is convenient to use and is a fine flavor. If the spoon is deep and the glass is small a tablespoon of the juice is sufficient; put out half sugar in the tumbler, and the juice and crushed ice, filled up with water, stir and drink.

Superb Lemonade—Grate the yellow rind from a dozen lemons, squeeze onto two pounds of loaf sugar; when it is dissolved add a gallon of boiling water and when cool beat in the stiff whites of four eggs. Serve in tall glasses and garnish with fresh fruit.

The small fruits, all of them, may be used in their season for use as one after another for summer beverages. They are always acceptable and the hostess who keeps something of this sort on hand for the chance visitor, and the whole family, is sure to be a favorite.

This is an adjustable recipe—Current Punch—Wash thoroughly a quart of red currants and a pint of red raspberries, pour over a pint of boiling water and cover closely. When cold press through a sieve and sweeten, add the juice of an orange, or two lemons and water to suit.

The KITCHEN CABINET

It's every day under the sun. There is a remedy, or there is not. If there be one, seek and find it. If there be none, never mind it.

DISHES REASONABLE.

A most delicious way of serving strawberries is to hollow out a sufficient number of popovers, and fill them with sweetened strawberries; roll or sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve with cream.

Eggs, With Cheese Sauce and Asparagus.—Cover four eggs with boiling water (at least two quarts), cover closely and let stand on the back of the stove for half an hour. Chill the eggs and remove the shells, then cut in quarters lengthwise. Have ready eight rounds of hot buttered toast; set two pieces of eggs on each and dispose them in a circle on a hot plate. Set a bunch of hot boiled asparagus tips in the center and pour a cup of hot cheese sauce over the eggs. Serve the rest of the sauce separately.

Cheese Sauce.—Melt two tablespoons of butter, add two of flour, milk and pepper, then add a cup of milk and cook until thick. Add a half cup of grated cheese, and when it is melted the sauce is ready to serve.

Date Bread.—To one cup of scalded milk cooled, add a half of a compressed yeast cake which has been softened in a fourth of a cup of water; add half a teaspoonful of salt, a fourth of a cup of molasses or sugar and one cup of well-sifted whole wheat flour and enough white flour to make a dough that may be kneaded. Put all the ingredients into a bowl, using a knife to mix with, adding flour as needed. When light shape into a loaf and when light again bake an hour.

Mushroom Salad.—Small or button mushrooms should be used for this. Remove the outer skin and most of the stalk, drop them into boiling salted water and boil gently for two minutes. Remove them on to a cloth. When cold, sprinkle with pepper, salt and chopped parsley. Pile in a salad bowl and cover with French dressing; one part vinegar to three parts oil and salt and pepper to taste.

Maple Syrup Sandwiches.—Boil a cup of maple syrup, half a cup of chopped dates, half a cup of blanched almonds, and half a cup of dried pineapple. Let cook gently for eight minutes. Take from the fire and add a tablespoonful of crushed maple sugar. Spread bread and butter with this mixture.

MONODIET AND DIGESTION.

Professor Goodfellow, the well-known English authority on bread, says that when milk is eaten with bread, the digestion of the bread is 10 per cent. less complete. This would naturally follow from the principles of the monodiet already explained. There are few better combinations than bread and milk, but no combination is perfect. Dr. Porter and others who have had much experience with the milk diet insist that for the best results nothing must be taken with the milk. These foods should be combined which are most compatible.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

CAN YOU CONTROL YOUR MIND?

SOME of your hurts you have cured, and the deepest you still have survived; but what tortures of grief you endured from evils that never arrived!

There is a great deal of real trouble in the life of every man and woman. Sometimes it seems to us as if we emerge from one difficulty merely to find another. Just as the baby gets over measles, the big brother falls and breaks his leg; just when the dark cloud of mother's illness is disappearing over the horizon, a new cloud appears from the other direction in the shape of father's business losses. There are times when all of us feel too keenly the force of that great sentence: "Man is born to trouble as the sparks fly upward."

Surely, then, with all this real trouble so handy, there is no need for us to make any extra trouble for ourselves.

And yet, as Emerson points out, most of us perpetually torment ourselves with the evils that never arrive.

"The older I grow the more firmly I am convinced that the very greatest factor of happiness in all the world is mind control—in other words, the ability not to torment ourselves in this way."

Can you control your mind? When you find yourself dwelling on an unpleasant topic, can you firmly remove your mind from it and think of something else? If you cannot, no matter how thoroughly fortune favors you, no matter how many of your wishes come true, how many of your ships come sailing in, you will never be thoroughly happy. If you have no real troubles, you will always have plenty of the imaginary kind.

I think that every one of us ought to study mind control, just as we study our professions or the art of pleasing others or the care of our bodies.

Try it some day. You want to go to sleep and you will find your mind is at work on some business deal or some household problem. Instead of giving in to it, and tossing restlessly about with your mind aflame with thought, until you fall asleep from sheer exhaustion, say to yourself: "Stop right now." Then "take your mind by the scruff of the neck," as Arnold Bennett has so cleverly said, drag it away from that topic and put it on some other.

Be sure to carry out that last instruction. It is not enough to simply take the mind away from what it is feeling on; you must give it something else or the moment you relax it will go back. And it must be something interesting to you, or, better, something absorbing story you have just read; recall some agreeable conversation. If nothing else will do, think of the most pleasant thing that has happened to you lately. I don't know, I rather think that in this case the end justifies the means.

The first time you try to do this, I warn you you will find it very hard; just as the first time you try to make a spoiled child submit his will to yours, there is apt to be a struggle. But the second time your task will be easier and each time thereafter.

There is something to each of us hidden brain and body, you know. There is also the will. Now the will ought to be the supreme master of both mind and body. Where it is not, there is anarchy, and where there is anarchy, happiness is not. Is your will supreme?

dividual, with a three-quart pail, was surprised early one morning gathering our fruit with a speed that showed practice.

"As to picking strawberries—Girls, I want you to know there isn't a thing rounder about it. After you've gone through a patch in big as ours to get five or six quarts of berries, you'll agree with me, it may be healthy exercise, but excuse me, I'm doing the picking and mother's doing the canning. I always used to hate canning, but I guess mother's got the best end of the bargain this time. Anyway, I'll eat every berry

"We have a strawberry bed at our place," announced the girl with the sunburned nose.

"Guess I'll come out and visit you right now," remarked the young person in a Panama hat.

"Of all the lucky girls, you're sure one," declared the one in the bath-towel suit.

"Never mind—you needn't envy me so much," quoth the sunburned one, "it's no such thing to have a strawberry bed on your hands."

"When we rented the place last fall, that strawberry bed was one of the inducements for us to take the place. I just saw a picture of myself roaming through it, picking luscious, red berries, and for once filling up on 'em without paying the grocer horrible prices for the cheapest stuff that comes in those boxes with the bottom shoved half way up."

"This spring, when that straw berry patch began to blossom, I went out there every day to see what progress was being made, and the first green wart of a berry I spied was hailed with loud acclaim."

"But when the berries began to get ripe, our troubles began."

"It developed that several small boys had their eyes on the bed, as well as those legally entitled to its fruits. Also, our neighbor's chickens had a taste for strawberries."

"Well, mother and I took turns stooping, boys and chickens out of that strawberry patch till we jumped in our sleep."

"Then some strangers from the city came snooping around, and we had to explain to them individually and collectively, that they were on private grounds. And a long, long inwhich is acknowledged standard in fabric gloves even by competitors.

The Divine Law.

And what is the divine law to a man? To hold fast that which is his own, and to claim nothing that is another's; to use what is given him, and not to covet what is not given; to yield up easily and willingly what is taken away, giving thanks for the time he has had it in his service.—Epictetus.

Cure for Snoring.

The invention of a light steel bar to be held against the upper lip by clamps to prevent persons from snoring is announced in the patent office, but many persons are convinced that a crowbar driven deftly through the cranium is the only permanent cure.

All-Purpose Household Soap
Northern Europe
Since 1753

FOR A CENTURY, "Old Country" soap-makers have been trying to hit on the formula of the famous green soap of Northern Europe. All their attempts have failed. That formula defies discovery. Passed down from father to son since 1753, its secret is still known only to the descendants of its originator. Only because our Chief Chemist is himself a member of that family can we now offer to you here in America that greatest of all soap formulas in the shape of

Old Country GREEN SOAP

"Old Country" is a green soft soap for universal use in household cleaning.

"Old Country" is green, and it stays green under all conditions. That proves it is absolutely pure—proves that it is strictly neutral with no free alkali or free acid in it. This makes "Old Country" in spite of its all-purpose household efficiency, positively beneficial for the hands.

"Old Country" is soft. Its consistency is that of jelly. It can be measured for each use. No part of it is ever wasted.

"Old Country" is soap—soap, and nothing but soap. No "filler" has been added to it. No rosin, no packing-house grease or water to add weight. Just straight, pure vegetable oils, combined by a formula which makes it "The Wizard Soap of the World."

"Old Country" is for universal use in household cleaning. There is nothing to win your grocer has it. Just mention "Old Country" to him over the phone. Get at least a 10c can today, and say good-bye to half your cleaning work.

You Can Always Cut Even Slices From Bread Made With Matchless Flour

You women of Janesville who know how difficult it is to slice ordinary bread evenly will be delighted with your first baking from Christian's Matchless Flour.

You will find that while your bread is light it slices evenly and easily without crumbling.

This is because the wheat in Matchless Flour is not crushed to a fine dust. The process of milling Matchless Flour is actually a digging out of the white part of the wheat berries and after a succession of careful screenings you have in Matchless Flour a minutely granulated flour instead of a crushed-to-a-dust flour. You'll like Matchless Flour. Your grocer has it or will get it, telephone him now!

SENIOR PARTY HELD AT ASSEMBLY HALL

Members of Class 1912 Entertained at Dancing Party Last Evening
—Many Young People Attended.

Assembly hall was gay with a crowd of young people last evening for the senior party, about one hundred and fifty couples of young people attending the affair. The hall was prettily decorated with blue and gold, the class colors, and mottoes bearing witty sayings of members of the class were hung about the walls. The feature of the evening was the grand march, the young ladies wearing gold blue paper hats, and the young men, blue rosettes. Refreshments were served in the hall by Mrs. Bowerman, Hatcher's orchestra, with zylphonas, furnished a splendid program of dance music. The party was in charge of Patricia Kelly, Donald Korat and Frank Southland.

DOCTOR'S SHIFT.

Now Gets Along Without It.

A physician says: "Until last fall I used to eat meat for my breakfast, and suffered with indigestion until the meat had passed from the stomach. 'Last fall I began the use of Grape-Nuts for breakfast and very soon found I could do without meat, for my body got all the nourishment necessary from the Grape-Nuts and since then I have not had any indigestion and am feeling better and have increased in weight. 'Since finding the benefit I derived from Grape-Nuts I have prescribed the food for all my patients suffering from indigestion or overfeeding and also for those recovering from disease where I want a food easy and certain to digest and which will not overtax the stomach. 'I always find the results I look for when I prescribe Grape-Nuts. For ethical reasons please omit my name. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. 'The reason for the wonderful amount of nutriment, and the easy digestion of Grape-Nuts is not hard to find. 'In the first place, the starchy part of the wheat and barley goes through various processes of cooking, to perfectly change the starch into dextrins or grape-sugar, in which state it is ready to be easily absorbed by the blood. 'The parts in the wheat and barley which Nature can make use of for rebuilding brain and nerve centers are retained in this remarkable food, and thus the human body is supplied with the powerful strength producers, so easily noticed after one has eaten Grape-Nuts each day for a week or 10 days. 'There's a reason' and it is explained in the little book, 'The Road to Wellville,' in pink. 'Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest."

Reasoning Power Lacking in Apes.
Apes do not count further than four, and the floors of the Trausval, when they hunt these animals, hide in numbers exceeding four. Four depart in succession in such a manner as to be noticed by the apes, who then come forth and are easily captured.

Apt Description.

MEX-O-JA COFFEE

PRONOUNCED "MEX-O-HA"

A RARE BLEND

THE TWO WOMEN pictured in this and other Mex-o-ja advertisements are intended to illustrate our statement that Mex-o-ja coffee is a high-grade blend. The picture to the right represents a native of Brazil and the one to the left a native of Mexico.

It is from these two famous coffee-producing countries that we choose the raw material entering the blend of delicious Mex-o-ja.

Our 50 years of experience have proven that by selecting certain berries from Sao Paulo, Brazil, and a certain type of coffee from the mountainous districts of Mexico, we can produce a blend positively unmatchable at the price.

The distinction of high quality minus the high price which we claim for Mex-o-ja is the result of our superior facilities for securing the raw material, and economic system of packing. By saying Mex-o-ja to your grocer you get "the coffee you want at the price you wish to pay."

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Isn't it awful the way Women are neglected.

DANGER PERIOD OF WOMANS' LIFE FROM 45 to 50

Interesting Experience of Two Women—Their Statements Worth Reading.

Ashville, N.C.—"I suffered for years with female trouble while going through the Change of Life. I tried a local physician for a couple of years without any substantial benefit. Finally after repeated suggestions to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I quit my physician and commenced using it with the happiest results. I am today practically a well woman and anxious to contribute my mite towards inducing others to try your great medicine, as I am fully persuaded that it will cure the ailments from which I suffered if given a fair chance.

"If you think this letter will contribute anything towards further introducing your medicines to afflicted women who are passing through this trying period, it is with great pleasure I consent to its publication."—Mrs. JULIA A. MOORE, 17 East St., Ashville, N. C.

The Case of Mrs. Kirlin.
Circleville, Ohio.—"I can truthfully say that I never had anything do me so much good during Change of Life as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I had taken one half a bottle of it I began to feel better, and I have continued taking it. My health is better than it has been for several years. If all women would take it they would escape untold pain and misery at this time of life."—Mrs. ALICE KIRLIN, 353 W. Mill St., Circleville, Ohio.

The Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. At such times women may rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The Three Guardsmen

... By ...
ALEXANDRE DUMAS

"It is not Mme. Boncloux about whom I am anxious," cried D'Artagnan, "but the queen, whom the king abandons, whom the cardinal persecutes and who sees the heads of all her friends fall one after the other. If I knew where the Duke of Buckingham was I would take him by the hand and conduct him to the queen were it only to enrage the cardinal."

"And did the mercer," rejoined Athos, "tell you, D'Artagnan, that the queen thought that Buckingham had been brought over by a forged letter?"

"She is afraid so."

"Gentlemen," cried Aramis, "yesterday I was at the house of a doctor of theology whom I sometimes consult about my studies."

Athos smiled.

"He resides in a quiet quarter," continued Aramis. "His tastes and his profession require it. Now, at the moment that I left his house—"

Here Aramis stopped.

"Well," cried his auditors, "at the moment you left his house?"

"This doctor has a niece," continued Aramis. "She comes sometimes to see her uncle, and by chance was there yesterday at the same time that I was, and I could do no less than offer to conduct her to her carriage."

"Oh, oh! Then this niece of the doctor's keeps a carriage, does she?" interrupted Porthos, one of whose faults was a great incoherence of tongue.

"A very nice acquaintance, my friend!"

"Gentlemen, gentlemen," cried D'Artagnan, who began to get a glimpse of the result of the adventure, "the thing is serious; endeavor, then, not to joke, if possible. Go on, Aramis, go on."

"All at once a tall, dark gentleman—just like yours, D'Artagnan, came toward me, accompanied by five or six men, who followed at about ten paces behind him, and in the politest tone."

"Monsieur le Duke," said he to me, "and you, madame, continued he, addressing the lady who had hold of my arm, be so kind as to get into this carriage, and that without offering the slightest resistance or making the least noise."

"He took you for Buckingham!" cried D'Artagnan.

"I believe so," replied Aramis.

"But the lady?" asked Porthos.

"He took her for the queen!" said D'Artagnan.

"Just so," replied Aramis.

"The fact is," said Porthos, "Aramis is of the same height and something of the shape of the duke, but it nevertheless appears to me that the uniform of a musketeer—"

"I wore a very large cloak," said Aramis.

"In the month of July?" said Porthos. "Is the doctor afraid you should be recognized?"

"I can comprehend that the spy may have been deceived by the person, but the face?"

"I had a very large hat on," said Aramis.

"Oh!" cried Porthos. "What precautions to study theology!"

"Gentlemen, gentlemen," said D'Artagnan, "do not let us lose our time in fringing; let us separate and let us seek the mercer's wife. That is the key of the intrigue."

"Well," said Porthos, "in the first place make a bargain with the mercer, and a good bargain too."

"That's useless," said D'Artagnan. "For I believe if he does not pay us we shall be well enough paid by another party."

At this moment a sudden noise of footsteps was heard upon the stairs, the door was thrown violently open, and the unfortunate mercer rushed into the chamber in which the council was held.

"Save me, gentlemen, save me!" cried he. "There are four men come to arrest me!"

Porthos and Aramis arose.

"A moment!" cried D'Artagnan, making them a sign to replace their half drawn swords. "On this occasion we don't require courage. We must exercise prudence."

At this moment the four guards appeared at the door of the antechamber, but, seeing four musketeers standing and their swords by their sides, they hesitated to advance farther.

"Gentlemen, you will not oppose our executing the orders we have received?" asked the one who appeared to be the leader of the party.

"On the contrary, gentlemen, we would assist you if it were necessary."

"But you promised me," said the poor mercer in a very low voice.

"We can only save you by being true ourselves," replied D'Artagnan in a rapid, low tone, "and if we appear inclined to defend you they will arrest us with you."

"It seems, nevertheless—"

"Come in, gentlemen, come in!" said D'Artagnan. "I have no notice for defending monsieur. I saw him today for the first time, and he can tell you on what occasion. He came to demand the rent of my lodging. Is not that true, M. Boncloux? Answer!"

"That's the very truth," cried the mercer, "but monsieur does not tell you—"

"Silence with respect to me; silence with respect to my friends; silence about the queen above all, or you will ruin everybody without saving yourself. Now, gentlemen, you are at liberty to take away this man!"

And D'Artagnan pushed the half stupefied mercer among the guards, saying to him:

"You are a shabby old fellow, my dear. You come to demand money of me, of a musketeer! To prison with him! Gentlemen, once more, take him to prison and keep him under key as long as possible. That will give me time to pay him."

The guardsmen were full of thanks and left with their prey.

"And now, gentlemen," said D'Artagnan without stopping to explain his conduct, "all for one, one for all, that is our device, is it not?"

The four friends repeated with one voice the formula dictated by D'Artagnan.

"All for one, one for all."

"That's well! Now let every one retire to his own home," said D'Artagnan as if he had done nothing but command all his life. "And attention! For from this moment we are at fond with the cardinal!"

When in a house of whatever kind it may be an individual suspected of any crime be arrested the arrest is held secret. Four or five men are placed in ambushes in the first apartment, the door is opened to all that knock, it is closed after them and they are arrested, so that at the end of two or three days they have in their power almost all the familiars of the establishment. And that is a mouse trap.

The apartment of Master Boncloux became a mouse trap, and whoever appeared there was taken and interrogated by the cardinal's people. It must be observed that as a private passage led to the first floor, in which D'Artagnan lodged, those who called to see him were exempted from this.

Besides, nobody came thither but the three musketeers. They had all been engaged in earnest search and inquiries, but had discovered nothing.

As to D'Artagnan, he did not stir from his apartment. He converted his chamber into an observatory. From his window he saw all come who were caught; then, having removed some of the boarding of his floor and nothing remaining but a simple ceiling between him and the room beneath, in which the interrogatories were made, he heard all that passed between the inquisitors and the accused.

"Monsieur Boncloux sent anything to you for his wife or for any other person?"

"Has either the one or the other confided anything to you by word of mouth?"

"If they were acquainted with anything they would not question people in this manner," said D'Artagnan to himself. "Now, what is it they want to know? Why, if the Duke of Buckingham is in Paris, and if he has not had or is not to have some interview with the queen?"

On the evening of the day after the arrest of poor Boncloux a knocking was heard at the street door; the door was instantly opened and shut. Some one was taken in the mouse trap.

D'Artagnan flew to his hole and laid himself down on the floor at full length to listen.

Cries were soon heard and then moans, which some one appeared to be endeavoring to stifle. There were no interrogatories.

"It's a woman. They are searching her. She resists. They use force. The accursed!" said D'Artagnan to himself.

"But I tell you that I am mistress of the house, gentlemen! I tell you I am Mme. Boncloux! I tell you I belong to the queen!" said the unfortunate woman.

"Mme. Boncloux?" murmured D'Artagnan. "Can I have been so lucky as to have found what everybody is seeking for?"

The voice became more and more indistinct. A tumultuous movement shook the wallscotting. The victim resisted as much as a woman could resist four men.

"They are binding her, they are going to drag her away!" cried D'Artagnan to himself, springing up from the floor. "My sword! Good, it is by my side. Planchet!"

"Monsieur."

"Run and seek Athos, Porthos and Aramis. One of the three will certainly be at home; perhaps all three are.

"I have only done what every gentleman would have done in my place. You owe me no thanks."

Tell them to arm, to come here, and be quick! Ah, I remember. Athos is at M. de Treville's."

"But where are you going, monsieur, where are you going?"

"I am going down by the window in order to be there the sooner," cried D'Artagnan. "On your part put back the boards, sweep the floor, go out at the door and run where I bid you."

The knocker had scarcely sounded under the hand of D'Artagnan than the tumult ceased, steps approached, the door was opened and D'Artagnan, sword in hand, rushed into the apartment of Master Boncloux, the door of which, doubtless acted upon by a spring, closed after him.

Then those who dwelt in Boncloux's unfortunate house, together with the nearest neighbors, heard loud cries, stamping of feet, clashing of swords and breaking of furniture. Then, a moment after, four men clothed in black flew out of the door.

D'Artagnan was conqueror without much trouble it must be confessed, for only one of the policemen was armed and defended himself for form's sake.

On being left alone with Mme. Boncloux D'Artagnan turned toward her. "The poor woman reined, where she had been left, upon an armchair in a half fainting state. D'Artagnan examined her with a rapid but an earnest glance.

She was a charming woman of about twenty-five years of age, with dark hair, blue eyes and a nose slightly turned up, admirable teeth and a complexion marbled with rose and opal. There, however, stopped the signs which might have confounded her with a lady of rank. The hands were white, but without delicacy; the feet did not bespeak the woman of quality.

While D'Artagnan was examining Mme. Boncloux and was, as we have said, close to her, he saw on the ground a fine cambric handkerchief, which he mechanically picked up and at the corner of which he recognized the same cipher that he had seen on the handkerchief which had nearly caused him and Aramis to cut each other's throat.

From that time D'Artagnan had been cautious with respect to handkerchiefs with arms on them, and he therefore placed the one he had just picked up in Mme. Boncloux's pocket.

At that moment Mme. Boncloux recovered her senses.

"Ah, monsieur!" said she. "You have saved me. Permit me to thank you."

"Madame," said D'Artagnan, "I have only done what every gentleman would have done in my place. You owe me no thanks."

"Oh, yes, monsieur; oh, yes, and I hope to prove to you that you have not served an ingrate. But what could these men, whom I at first took for robbers, want with me, and why is M. Boncloux not here?"

"Madame, those men were much more dangerous than any robbers could have been, for they are the agents of M. le Cardinal, and as to your husband, M. Boncloux, he is not here because he was yesterday evening taken away to the Bastille."

"My husband in the Bastille!" cried Mme. Boncloux. "Oh, what can he have done? Poor dear man! He is innocent itself!"

And something like a faint smile glided over the still terrified features of the young woman.

"What has he done, madame?" said D'Artagnan. "I believe that his only crime is to have at the same time the good fortune and the misfortune to be your husband."

"But, monsieur, you know then—"

"I know that you have been carried off, madame."

"And by whom? Do you know? Oh, if you know, tell me!"

"By a man of from forty to forty-five years of age, with black hair, a dark complexion and a scar on his left temple."

"That is he, that is he; but his name?"

"Ah, his name? I do not know that."

"And did my husband know that I had been carried off?"

"He was informed of it."

"And does he suspect," said Mme. Boncloux, with some embarrassment, "the cause of this event?"

"He attributed it, I believe, to a political cause."

Amateur Aeroplanes.

Very small boys of the East side have solved unconsciously the principles of the box kite and the aeroplane. They take an ordinary paper bag, cut the end out of it so that it remains merely a cylinder of paper, tie a short bit of string to the end where the bottom used to be for a tail, then attach the end of a spool of thread to the opposite end of the bag. The improvised kite flies easily and steadily as high as the roofs of the tallest tenements.—New York Sun.

Sold Wife to Friend.

At the village of Utznach, Switzerland, the other day, a curious sale took place. With her own consent a woman was sold by her husband to another man, an Italian, and a friend of the Swiss couple. The price asked by the affectionate husband was four dollars. To further "legalize" the bargain, the Italian procured two witnesses to the transaction and had a contract written on stamped government paper.

The Difference.

The egotist accepts a position. The modest man secures a job. The egotist draws a salary. The modest man gets wages. The egotist goes into the hands of a receiver. The modest man "busts."

"Rag-Time" a Mixture.

The origin of "rag-time" is traced directly to the American negroes, yet the rhythmic peculiarities of "rag-time" are also characteristic of Indian music.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janeville Daily Gazette, June 25, of Rock county to the first congressional district convention. On motion the delegates were authorized to appoint substitutes in case they, or either of them, were unable to attend. The fifth assembly district convention composed of the city of Janesville, called to elect delegates to the first congressional district convention to be held at Elkhorn on the 25th inst., for the purpose of nominating a Republican candidate for representative in congress, convened at the court house last evening, pursuant to call. L. M. Hammond, chairman of the committee, called the convention to order. On motion, L. M. Hammond was appointed chairman of the convention and Philip Norcross, secretary. On motion the list of delegates published in the Gazette was accepted as the credentials of the members of the convention. On motion, J. H. Cassidy and S. J. M. Putnam were elected by acclamation as delegates from the fifth assembly district.

If all the noisy candidates who took the barren horn—if all of those kindred slaves were busy plowing earth, we wouldn't need to fuss and fret about the nation's good; prosperity as never yet, would rule our neighborhood, if tariff tinkers and the like would drop their futile loads, and work with the sober way, sidestep the joints where larger foams to tempt the thirsty boy, then in a million darkened homes the wives would weep for joy.

PUBLIC IS ASKED TO AID IN THE MATTER

Persons Answering Fraudulent Advertisements Asked to Notify Gazette.

The Gazette is desirous of keeping out of its columns fraudulent advertising and asks the assistance of its patrons to that end.

There are any number of concerns in the country who make a living through a nicely worded advertisement, offering golden opportunities, and these unscrupulous people find fertile ground for work among the masses.

Many orders are received in the Gazette mail for advertising which are returned as objectionable and where there is a question as to the qualifications the advertisement is omitted. All newspapers have this experience.

But even with the utmost care there will be an occasional advertisement which will pass the scrutiny of the business department of the paper and find its way into the columns.

The Gazette will deem it a favor if you will report to the office any trouble which may have been experienced through the answering of such an advertisement.

Ballads of British Origin.
The Ballads of the "mountain whites" of Kentucky and Georgia are transplanted relics of the British Isles, recalling the Anglo-Saxon origin of most of the early colonists.

A Good Investment.
There is no better investment than a fifty cent place in a bottle of Merol White Liniment. Muscular and rheumatic pains, swellings, lameness and soreness of the muscles are promptly relieved. Merol White Liniment is especially recommended as a general pain killer of unusual merit. Reliable Drug Co.

Bad State of Mind.
Peevishness, if indulged in too often, brings on a sort of permanent "grouch." If we allow ourselves to get irritated and disagreeable over insignificant troubles, pretty soon everything that doesn't go just our way will be regarded as a particular slum of fate, and we will get the fixed idea that life is treating us very badly indeed.

A Card.
This is to certify that Foley's Honey and Tar Compound does not contain any opiates, any habit forming drugs, or any ingredients that could possibly harm its users. On the contrary, its great healing and soothing qualities make it a real remedy for coughs, colds and irritations of the throat, chest and lungs. H. L. Blomquist, Edulieu, Wis., says his wife considers Foley's Honey and Tar Compound the best cough cure on the market. "She has tried various kinds but Foley's gives the best results of all." The genuine is in a yellow package. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and accept no substitute. Budget Drug Co.
